

THE LANDMARK OF CONTEMPORARY BEIJING

BEIJING

ROSEWOOD

The landmark of contemporary Beijing speaks to a city reimagined—a golden thread of legacy and modernity, woven into the fabric of the capital.

A retreat that reflects its dualities—design echoes the geometry of classic siheyuan courtyards. Stone, silk and carved wood are a material inheritance viewed through a modern lens. Curated works and evolving exhibitions featuring artists who carry tradition forward.

Here, symbolic tea ceremonies, calligraphy classes and Michelin-starred Cantonese dining come together in the present tense. A timeless yet personal connection with Chinese design, cuisine and character.

This is not a place set apart from its urban home, but an identity drawn from within it. One that seamlessly guides guests into a vibrant metropolis. Market visits, artisan workshops and sidecar rides around hutongs uncover local life.

A city experienced anew at Rosewood Beijing.
