OF SKI EXPLORATION

COURCHEVEL

ROSEWOOD

The modern centerpiece of ski exploration, where curated scenes of conviviality take place among an elevated connection to the slopes.

Nestled in the exclusive Jardin Alpin enclave of Courchevel 1850, Rosewood Courchevel Le Jardin Alpin reimagines the glamour of Courchevel's 1960s golden age while embracing the vibrant spirit that has long defined the French Alps. This crafted, contemporary chalet fuels alpine adventure among Les Trois Vallées, the largest ski resort in the world.

The resort features 51 rooms and suites, including three signature houses, each connecting guests to the snowy heights through seated terraces showcasing magnificent mountain views. Bringing his signature, tactile style to the chalet's charming accommodations, designer Tristan Auer seamlessly combines natural materials such as timber and stone with eye-catching copper accents and mirrored surfaces, lending a playful lightness to spaces that feel both intimate and spectacular.
