

THE HOME OF HISTORIC SANTA FE

SANTA FE

ROSEWOOD

INN OF THE ANASAZI

Bathed in sun and story, the home of historic Santa Fe celebrates the city's rich fusion of cultures and creative spirit in the heart of downtown.

From the moment you step through hand-painted carved-wood doors, the artistic heritage of Santa Fe makes itself known. Soft earth tones, ancestral handcrafted textiles and the work of local Native American artists. The palpable warmth of design and feeling tells a deeper story of a thriving New Mexico community.

One to be discovered while weaving through streets at the heart of Santa Fe or at the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum, a portal into the luminosity of its namesake artist. Reawaken the senses by night with Mexican and Spanish-inspired flavors—regional ingredients decorating every menu. A taste of the region that lingers in the infamous Silver Coin Margarita of the Anasazi bar, a destination of its own.

Rosewood Inn of the Anasazi is a modern downtown stay that is true to its native roots, by name and by nature.
